If you are free Friday, November 20th at 9:30...come to the center to hear Jim McAllister, our local historian present "Broad Street and Roast Meat Hill Over the Centuries". He will be talking about the neighborhood bounded by Broad/Gedney Streets and the former Mill Pond which has served as a center of education and government, home to the city's African-American community, and, in more recent decades, and Italian-American enclave. Jim traces the evolution of the neighborhood, important buildings, residents and events.
